

What Kind of a Writer Are You?

The video "Developing Writing Skills" teaches you about the importance of good writing skills. Find out what kind of writer you are by following the directions below.

Fill in the blanks on items 15 and 16. Then, circle each statement that describes you.

To learn what kind of writer you are, read aloud the sentences you've circled.

Remember, writers are always learning, growing and improving. So you can take this information and grow your writing skills!

1. I like to write in the morning.
2. I like to write in the evening.
3. I like to write in the middle of the day.
4. I like to write alone.
5. I like to write with a friend or partner.
6. I like to write with a group of people.
7. I read a lot of different things.
8. I need to read more because reading good writing will help me become a better writer.
9. I have set writing goals for myself.
10. I need to set writing goals for myself.
11. I am a really good speller.
12. I have to look up words I am uncertain how to spell.
13. I need to practice writing every day.
14. I practice writing every day.
15. I don't enjoy writing _____.
16. I especially like to write _____.
17. I don't know what I need to work on to improve my writing, but I can find out.
18. I know what I need to work on to improve my writing, and I can begin doing that.
19. I enjoy writing, and I see how writing is an important skill to have no matter what career I choose.
20. I don't enjoy writing, but I do see how writing is an important skill to have no matter what career I choose.